AUGUST WEEK 3 - 8/16/26

OUR MISSION:

PREACH, PRAY, PROPHECY, HEAL, & DELIVER

INTIMACY

WORD OF THE WEEK

Intimacy with God is more than knowing Scripture, attending church, or understanding spiritual principles. Biblical intimacy is the relationship that develops when a person chooses the presence of God over distraction, performance, and religious routine. It is the place where God is not simply someone we know about, but Someone we know. Jesus said, "Abide in me, and I in you" (John 15:4). To abide means to remain, dwell, and stay connected. Intimacy grows when we remain close enough to God to recognize His voice, understand His heart, and allow His presence to transform ours. God desires more than visitation; He desires habitation. He wants a people who seek not only His hand, but His face.

Because intimacy produces spiritual strength, the enemy attempts to disrupt it. He does not always need to lead a believer into obvious sin; sometimes distraction is enough. Busyness, offense, disappointment, anxiety, and comparison can consume time and attention that belongs to God. Jesus told Martha, "Thou art careful and troubled about many things: But one thing is needful" (Luke 10:41-42). Mary understood that sitting at the feet of Jesus was more valuable than being consumed by activity around Him. The enemy knows that a believer who remains in God's presence becomes difficult to deceive because intimacy produces discernment. The closer we become to God, the more clearly we recognize His voice.

True intimacy requires vulnerability and surrender. David prayed, "Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me, and know my thoughts" (Psalm 139:23). Intimacy invites God into our fears, wounds, desires, disappointments, motives, and hidden struggles. It means telling God the truth even though He already knows it. The purpose is not to inform Him, but to surrender ourselves. When we become transparent in His presence, He replaces shame with truth, fear with security, confusion with direction, and wounds with healing. Intimacy is trusting God enough to become completely honest.

Intimacy is also developed through obedience. Jesus said, "If ye love me, keep my commandments" (John 14:15). Love for God cannot remain merely emotional; intimacy eventually produces alignment. The more we know His heart, the more we desire to honor His ways. Obedience protects intimacy because rebellion creates distance. This does not mean believers must become perfect before approaching God. Rather, intimacy creates a heart that quickly responds when God corrects or convicts. Those who walk closely with Him begin to value His voice above personal preference. Prayer becomes conversation rather than obligation, worship becomes surrender rather than performance, and Scripture becomes revelation rather than information.

Ultimately, intimacy is the foundation from which spiritual authority, purpose, and fruitfulness flow. Jesus repeatedly withdrew into private place to pray. What was demonstrated publicly was sustained privately. In the same way, the strength of a believer's public assignment depends upon the depth of their private relationship with God. Intimacy cannot be borrowed from another person's prayer life, revelation, or encounter; every believer must personally cultivate relationship with Him. When we choose His presence consistently, we become familiar with His voice, sensitive to His Spirit, secure in His love, and confident in our identity. Intimacy is where God reveals His heart, transforms our hearts, and prepares us to carry what He desires to release.

SPEAK LIFE: "I CHOOSE INTIMACY WITH GOD ABOVE ALL ELSE. I DRAW NEAR, AND HE DRAWS NEAR TO ME!"
